Eliminate Four Grade Crossings By New Highway

Will Enable Traffic to Pass Between Saugerties and Mt. Marion Without Crossing Railroad Tracks.

Albany, July 22.—The public service commission Monday gave final approval to the new highway along the west side of the West Shore railroad between Mt. Marion and Saugerties in Ulster county, by which four grade crossings and one bridge crossing of poor construction were eliminated. The new stretch of highway is about two and half miles long. The elimination of the crossings was ordered by the commission November 12, 1918, after hearings had been held on the petitions of the New York Central railroad company, which leases the West Shore, and the town of Saugerties.

Y. M. C. A. Boys Back From Camp

Last Saturday afternoon a happy band of boys returned to Kingston, singing and shouting, and exhibiting some well-browned faces and arms, while others had good sunburns, but not enough to dampen their spirits, or to effect in any way the fun they had enjoyed at the Y. M. C. A. Boys Camp at Twin Lakes, Ellenville, N. Y.

It was ten days ago that this same group climbed on a truck and made the trip to the lakes. Here for ten days under the leadership of Messrs. Hall and Butler of the local "Y," they had a healthy out-of-door life, swimming in good fresh water, fishing, boating, and all the other joys that go in making a real American Boys Camp.

Four tents were erected and the camp bunks erected by the boys. An army field range was set up, and soon after their arrival the aromas of good cooking was filling the air. The K. P.'s were on the job, and the success of the camp was assured.

Three large rowboats were secured for the boys and they were kept busy all day long. Every boy in camp was a swimmer before he returned to the city. Especial caution was observed as all swimming periods and no one was allowed to go into the water after eating, not even an ice cream cone being permitted. The camp took the same interest in the campers as they did in their own children who were in camp.

Camp fires, were held that will be remembered. Snipehunts were conducted without success. Boys were tested according to all the approved methods of the scout work. Boys were featured for those who wished to and several boys were given certificates that they had passed the work required.

Many parents visited the camp during the period and spoke in most hearty terms of the work of the leaders and the way the boys were entering into the life of the camp.

When the klaxon sounded for the last call, and the tents were down, the camp was packed, and all were waiting the arrival of the truck to carry them home, a banyard golf tournament was held among all the campers. Conrad Schenckel was the winner and was duly acclaimed champion by all the others of the camp.

Camping for the "Y" group is over until next year. But already have the boys who have been in the camp, spoken so enthusiastically to the others that a large number of others are already indicating that they are sure going next year.

YEARS OLD, BROKE ARM WHILE PICKING BERRIES

Mrs. Elting Wager of Stone Ridge, eighty-two years of age, on Monday while picking berries stumbled and fell injuring her arm. She was brought to the office of Dr. Harry P. Van Wagenen on John street who took an X-ray of the arm. It developed that her arm had been broken at the shoulder joint. Dr. Van Wagenen gave the necessary surgical attention.

Coe Attended Conference. Louis E. Coe, secretary of the chamber of commerce of this city, attended a meeting of the executive committee of the New York State Conference of Commercial Organization Secretaries held at Albany on Monday. The fall conference will be held at Syracuse, October 3 and 4, with the winter session at Utica.

A Lawn Party.

A lawn party will be held at the home of Mrs. John Lladhorst, 79 Laddley avenue, on Wednesday evening, under the auspices of Circle 4 of the Livingston Street Lutheran Church. The public is cordially invited. If rainy will be held the next evening.

Chapple Stars Lost.

Chapple Johnson's Stars of Schenectady were defeated Monday, at Boudroga, score 7 to 2.

Trio in Jail on Burglary Charge

Sergeant James Cunningham of the state troopers and Deputy Sheriff Anderson V. Ellsworth brought to the Ulster county jail Monday evening Marion Jones and Charles D'Andrea of West Hurley, and Frank Smith of 93 North Front street, this city, to be held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of burglary in the third degree. They were committed by Justice of the Peace Tiller at West Hurley.

It is alleged that the trio some time on Sunday night broke open a door of a roadside ice cream stand of Raymond Hogan, located on the South Ashokan boulevard, in the town of Hurley, and had taken cigarettes and other articles. Sergeant Cunningham made an investigation which resulted in the arrest of the three young fellows.

Jones had been out on bail on an indictment for abduction of a young girl, and also was out on bail on a charge of being mixed up in the taking of an automobile. D'Andrea was released from jail only a short time ago after serving a sentence for stealing chickens.

Big Circus Comes To Kingston

Sells-Floto Circus. Resplendent in Colors, Filled With Attractions, Delights Crowds With Parade and Performances.

The Sells-Floto circus arrived in Kingston this morning a little behind schedule but in time to get the big tent up and get their famous street parade under way about noon. The parade, which is credited with being the largest circus parade in the world, was witnessed by thousands of people who lined the streets over which the parade passed.

The street demonstration displayed hundreds of beautiful equines, as well as scores of wild and vicious animals. There were lions with thick, heavy manes, a species which is getting rare, and other kinds, agile and wide-awake as they pranced around in their cages.

Tinsel and Glitter Present. All the time-honored glitter and tinsel and circus atmosphere were there, and from the time that the four beautiful lady trumpeters on snow white horses appeared, until the last rumbling wagon had passed, there were constant expressions of delight and amusement from the spectators along the route.

40 Clowns Make Appeal. The parade was built along the lines of all successful parades but seemed to be somewhat different. The animals were in excellent condition, all well groomed. The various riders, five big bands, groups of chorus girls were attractively costumed and made a good impression, then the clowns—40 of them all bedecked and acting just as foolish as ever—also appealed to the crowd.

Baby Camel Gets Attention. "Medinah," the baby camel, who boasts that she was born in Chicago while the show was playing at the Coliseum last April, was in the line of march together with her mother and relatives—a whole caravan of them mounted by Arabs in gay-colored costumes.

Star Performers in Parade. Riding in the parade either on horseback or on one of the band wagons were the Sells-Floto stars—Erma Ward, who hanging by one arm, turns many somersaults in mid-air; Mayne Ward, only woman mid-air somersaulter, who a couple of weeks ago perfected her astounding feat of accomplishing the same daring act blindfolded and bound to a gunnysack; Homer Hobsons and Albert Hodin, hurricane riders; and the two Edward Ward troupes of aerial-stars, nine people each.

Horses Exceptionally Fine. The horses were an exceptional complement to the show. Every one was perfectly groomed and appeared to be in the best of condition. Even the draft horses used for hauling the heavy wagons, showed a great amount of care. Miss Floto, the world's greatest high jumping horse, was a point of admiration.

Parade As Advertised. The big circus parade followed the line of march as stated in The Freeman Monday. The heavy wagons and equipment were left on top of the Broadway hill turning into Delaware avenue and thence up Hasbrouck avenue and back to the circus lot. The camels, elephants and a negro band together with the cow-boys and cowgirls and other riders of the circus proceeded on down Broadway through the Strand and up Hasbrouck avenue back to the lot. It was about 1:30 o'clock when the parade passed through the Strand.

The Show.

The first performance of the circus was given this afternoon and met with hearty approval of the large crowd that filled the big top. "The Bride and the Beasts," a barbaric, lyrical spectacle particularly appealed to the crowd. The spectacle, in which 1,900 people and animals took part, was brought to a climax by a raid of man killers.

Performance Tonight. The circus will give another performance tonight at 8 o'clock at the Kingston Fair Grounds.

Auto Club Wants More Policemen

Board of Governors Adopt Resolution Calling for Increase of Eight Men to Police Force—Request Referred to Mayor Block and Finance Committee.

The board of governors of the Automobile Club of Ulster county at its last meeting adopted a resolution requesting the city authorities to increase the police force by at least eight men and an office assistant to care for traffic. The action taken by the board of governors was called to the attention of Mayor Morris Block by Dr. H. F. Melnhardt, secretary of the Auto Club, with the request that the matter be taken up with the common council.

At the special meeting of the council held Monday evening at the city hall the communication from the Auto Club was read. It stated that for the past three years motor traffic has increased with surprising rapidity and only by extraordinary efforts has the police force been able to care for it, together with the other necessary work. The police force, it stated, was entirely too small to properly police the city, and the force should have at least eight more men and an office assistant.

Opposed to Increase Now.

Mayor Block in response to questions by some of the aldermen stated that personally he was opposed to increasing the police force at this time, and he believed that the addition of four special policemen to the force during the summer months was sufficient to look after the police needs of the city. He said that the board of police commissioners had appointed four special policemen who were now at work and had been for some time past. The mayor suggested that the communication and resolution from the Auto Club be referred to the finance, ways and means committee, and the mayor, and that an invitation be extended to the board of governors to meet with the committee and consider the matter.

Alderman Belchert of the Second ward offered a resolution to that effect which was unanimously adopted.

Wants Police on Back Streets.

Alderman James T. Sweeney of the Third ward said that he believed the police force should pay some attention to the back streets. There had been several robberies in the Third ward in the past week or so and he moved that "The Police take a walk through the back streets at least once a week anyway." It was referred to the police board.

Alderman Belchert, of the Second ward, said he did not see how Alderman Sweeney could expect to see a policeman in the back streets when he had been several months trying to have the police department send an officer through Foxhall avenue once in a while.

"You men don't believe in increasing the number of the police force," observed Alderman Everett, of the Eleventh ward, "but here you are talking about parading the outlying districts."

"It is not necessary to increase the police force to do that," retorted Alderman Sweeney. "If we saw a policeman once in a while in the back streets it might have a tendency to curb those who are now getting all the gray robbing houses."

Getting After Busses.

After the police question had been disposed of, Alderman Belchert said that he had been checking up on Saugerties bus lines and found that they were leaving from five to ten minutes ahead of their published schedule, and that they would stop at the central bus terminal only when it pleased them to do so. "We have an ordinance to regulate the busses," said he, "and I move that the chief of police be notified to see to it that the bus ordinance is enforced immediately." His resolution was unanimously adopted.

Resolutions Introduced.

Alderman James J. Sweeney introduced a resolution that Snyder Place be topdressed and rolled; Jansen avenue repaired; and Stephan and Derrenbacher streets topdressed and rolled, which were referred to the board of public works.

Alderman John T. Sweeney introduced a resolution that the catch basin at Spring and Ravine streets be repaired at once; that a grating be placed on the catch basin at Broadway and Rogers street; that holes in Montrose avenue, New street and West Chestnut street be filled; and that the catch basin at Spring and Home streets be cleaned. Referred to public works board.

The council then adjourned.

Trustee of Senate Home.

Mrs. E. Chadbourne of Stone Ridge, who has made many contributions to the collection of articles for the trustees of the Senate House Association, has been elected one of the trustees of that distinguished body.

St. Mary's Scout Leader Drowned At Summer Camp

James McNamara, Leader of Scout Troops Two and Three Stricken With Heart Attack Monday. Died While Swimming in Esopus Creek.

Death cast its shadow of gloom Monday over Camp Wapanackie, at Mt. Tremper, when James McNamara of 20 Summer street, this city, was stricken with a heart attack and died in shallow waters at the Esopus creek, where he and a number of the Scouts just started in for a dip.

McNamara was the Boy Scout leader of Troops 2 and 3 of St. Mary's parish, this city, and with a number of Scouts were enjoying camp life at the camp, which is conducted by St. Mary's parish.

On Monday afternoon they decided to take their usual swim and the leader was the first to enter the water. The story as related by the Scouts is to the effect that their leader complained of the cold when he entered the water and suddenly he was seen to give signs of distress and fell back into the water. James Halloran was the first of the Scouts to reach him and he struggled hard to pull him into the surface but the weight was too heavy. Another young boy of New York city also attempted to save him but the body at this time was in strong current, which was too terrific for the boys to try and lift the body and swim themselves. The boys' attempts were futile and Halloran assisted his comrade back to the shore, almost exhausting himself in trying to save the Scout leader.

Halloran put up a heroic fight to save the life of his scout leader, but at one time had hold of his hair, but his strength was insufficient for him to wrestle with the weight of his leader and the strong mountain current. It is believed that the National Committee will recognize Halloran's work. Soon after the futile efforts of the Boy Scouts, aid was summoned and the body raised but it was too late. Dr. Wolfe of Poughkeepsie, a doctor of Mt. Tremper and a trained nurse, worked for a half hour over the boy but their work was of no avail as he had been dead shortly after entering the water. Dr. Wolfe and Coroner Conner viewed the body and pronounced death due to heart failure and drowning. Efforts to resuscitate the Scout leader were in vain, although the body had only been in the water from three to five minutes.

McNamara was a very good swimmer and was a first class scout leader. He had considerable experience in military training as he was a corporal in the First Battalion Headquarters and Combat train.

Young McNamara was in the twenty-first year of his age and was greatly attached to and loved by the boys he had in his charge. Following his death great effort was extended in comforting the Scouts, who seemed to be heart-broken. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John McNamara and was formerly employed as a foreman at the plant of the American Cigar Company. Besides his parents he is survived by a brother, John and five sisters, Mary, Angela, Catherine and Dolores at home and Mrs. Helen Green of New York city.

He was a devout member of St. Mary's Church and the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's. The society will assemble at St. Mary's hall Wednesday evening, at 7:45 o'clock to proceed to the home of the deceased to recite the prayers of the dead.

Wednesday evening Scouts of Troops two and three of St. Mary's will meet at St. Mary's school hall to take action on the death of their leader.

Funeral from the late residence, at 8:45 o'clock on Thursday morning, and at 9:30 o'clock at St. Mary's Church, with a requiem Mass for the repose of his soul. Interment in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Van Etten's Taxi Service Moves

The Van Etten taxi service, which has been located at No. 9 Wynkoop Place, has leased the large garage at No. 11 Railroad avenue, which for a number of years was the home of the Kingston Taxi Company, and will continue the taxi business there.

Supervisor Charles A. Van Etten, who is sole owner and proprietor of the Van Etten taxi service, is one of the best known young business men in the city and his taxi service has grown so rapidly that the new location has been made necessary. In addition to the taxi service he will also carry on a repair service shop, and will carry a full line of auto supplies.

In his taxi service Supervisor Van Etten will use Big Six Studebaker cars, supplementing the smaller type of taxicabs, and also special cars of the sedan type.

Finger Printing Free to Veterans.

Howard Sanger, finger print expert of No. 24 South Clinton avenue, has again opened his office to all World War veterans for the purpose of finger printing bonus applications without charge. Mr. Sanger is a graduate of the University of Applied Science of Chicago.

Dance at Lake Katrine.

The usual Tuesday evening dance will take place this evening at the Lake Katrine Grange Hall under the auspices of the Grange. Refreshments will be served. Music by Zucca.

Bodies of Two Children Found

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Bridgeport, Conn., July 22.—A sudden gale from behind the hills that wall in crowded Fairfield Beach, one of the cottage resorts that line the sound's north shore, caught a green and white canoe bearing seven little children last Thursday afternoon, and swept it into the mouth of a creek where a cross current upset it. A smother of white caps bore down on the children and they perished, presumably, in the opinion of seamen, by the shock of the cold water. In less than ten minutes the sun shone again and the sound was smooth as a mill race.

Frantic parents late that night when their children failed to return home appealed for police aid. The canoe was found miles in the south the next afternoon, waterlogged but afloat. Until today not a trace of the children was found. Searchers who had been on the task unceasingly since the children were missed, found two bodies floating 500 feet from the creek mouth. Then they bent their efforts to finding the others though they believe nature only can release the youngsters from their graves many feet below the water.

Four girls and three boys made up the party of children who frolicked in the canoe. They ranged in age from 8 to 15 years. The children had spent their summers at the beach ever since they could remember and in smooth waters were efficient swimmers. In the gale that swept their canoe no person could stay alive in the waters where the tragedy occurred, for a torrential rain came with it and white caps rushed in and out the creek mouth with express train force.

The bodies found today bore evidence that the children were overwhelmed so suddenly they did not realize what happened. The canoe had been upset in a whirlpool and dragged out in the body of a current that for years has made Penfield reef ledge a danger spot for navigation.

Raid Big Hotel Second Time

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 22.—Federal Prohibition agents early today for the second time within ten days, raided a large New York hotel, arresting a waiter and captain of waiters at the roof of the Belvedere hotel, and leaving a summons for W. Heath, manager of the roof. The basis of their charges, the agents said, was that they bought a pint of whiskey for $6.

The men arrested gave the names of Robert Gassel, a waiter, and John Romitti, captain of waiters.

Procedure followed in the Belvedere raid was similar to that at the Ritz-Carlton roof on July 11. The agents, attired in evening clothes, posed as promoters of a boxing matches, talking over plans while seated at a table on the roof.

Trials in the Ritz-Carlton case have been set for July 23, by Federal Judge McClintock.

Circus Parade Causes Accident

Boy Became Excited Watching It and Fell From Tree, Breaking Arm—Automobile Ran Down Children.

This afternoon as the big circus parade passed down Broadway past the city hall, a boy named Simmons residing at 24 Ann street, who was perched in an apple tree near the city hall grew so excited that he lost his balance and fell out of the tree, breaking his arm. He was taken to the Kingston City Hospital where the fracture was reduced.

About the same time an automobile ran up on the sidewalk at Broadway and Delaware avenue and several children gathered to watch the parade were knocked down, but as far as learned none were hurt.

Coolidge Ready For Any Weapons

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 22.—William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee today served notice on the Democratic party and the LaFollette organization that President Coolidge was prepared, if necessary to make the coming campaign one of "personalities."

The president, Butler said, is ready to conduct his fight for continuance in office along any lines, or with any weapons his opponents may choose.

See Politics in Price of Flour

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, July 22.—American politics was seen today by the British press in the sharp rise in the price of flour and bread throughout England. Merchants have charged that the rise was due to the manipulations of American speculators. The Daily Express, in an editorial on the rise and its causes, asked whether the reported American speculation was "part of a campaign to win the support of the American farmers."

3 KILLED WHEN TANKER RAMMED LINER IN FOG

Crash Occurred at Midnight Off Point Judith—900 Passengers Escape in Life Boats—Injured Taken to Newport Hospitals—Liner is Helped to Newport Harbor.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Newport, R. I., July 22.—Five persons were killed, one woman and four men, when the new passenger liner Boston of the Eastern Steamship Company was rammed by the oil tanker Swift Arrow off Point Judith in a heavy fog, according to word brought here today by Lieut. Page, ship's doctor of the U. S. S. Wright.

Lieut. Page arrived here on the coast guard cutter Acushnet which had on board E. L. Copeland of Brookline, Mass., grievously injured. Lieut. Page said many were injured but could not give an estimate of the number. He was drafted from the Wright to care for Copeland, whose right side and collarbone were fractured in addition to other internal injuries. He is unconscious and will be operated upon immediately in the Newport hospital.

Copeland was pinned in his state room, which was located close to the spot where the oil tanker drove her nose into the big passenger steamer, and it was necessary to literally cut him free of the wreckage.

Survivors' Thrilling Story. The Boston was brought into Newport harbor supported on one side by the steamship Commonwealth and on the other by three navy tugs. Coming in the Commonwealth picked up three additional survivors in a life boat, who told stories of a narrow escape from deaths.

According to the three, nearly an hour was required to launch the life boat in which they got away. When launched the boat's sea rocks were without lights. The sea was flat and this fact alone prevented a heavy loss of life, according to the survivors.

Injured Taken to Hospital. Ambulances were waiting at Long wharf to take injured to the hospital as fast as they could be landed.

Passengers Remained Calm.

The first three of the Boston's passenger list to come ashore from Commonwealth, Victor M. Smith and E. F. Corvett of Boston, and H. E. Darling of Boston, said they knew of three dead, one woman and two men. All describe the crash as coming shortly after midnight, and stated that the Swift Arrow cut through the port side into the engine room and saloon. The body of the woman had not been freed from the wreckage when they came ashore. The survivors declared the passengers remained calm and made their way in an orderly manner into life boats. The majority were picked up by the Priscilla, which proceeded to Newport.

Killed as They Slept. The bodies of three victims of the collision remain pinned in the Boston's wrecked port side. They were crushed to death as they slept in their berths. The husband of the woman killed escaped uninjured, although he occupied the same state room.

The Swift Arrow after picking up many survivors came to anchor off Beavertail Hill and later landed nine small boats filled with passengers at Newport.

Passengers returning to Boston were put aboard the steamers Plymouth and Commonwealth and taken to Fall River. Those continuing the trip to New York were sent aboard the Priscilla and Providence. The former is due at New York at 3 p. m. She has aboard the Boston's purser, who has the only known passenger list.

Says Three Were Killed. A statement issued by the Eastern Steamship Company placed three as the number killed and added that all the passengers had been picked up.

Crumpled Like Egg Shell. Boatwain's Mate Hayden, of the U. S. S. Wright, whose home is in Boston, was the outstanding hero of the disaster. He was the first aboard the damaged steamer and took charge of the rescue work. Hayden chopped through three partitions to reach Copeland. He emerged from the tangle of wreckage carrying Copeland, both bathed in the injured man's blood.

Seven state rooms were crumpled like an egg shell. All of them have not been explored and those tearing away the wreckage are fearful of what they may find there.

Coast Guard Helps in Rescue. The Point Judith coast guard boat towed in nine small boats filled with passengers of the Boston to Long wharf.

The Swift Arrow is now proceeding to Fall River.

The New York, a sister ship of the Boston, the Priscilla, the Commonwealth, the Acushnet and the Swift Arrow were among the vessels that participated in picking up the crowded life boats. Many who had been taken aboard the Swift Arrow were later transferred to the Priscilla, which was also bound for New York. Many of the lifeboats drifted

OUTGROWN CLOTHES

"It's too bad," said the dress which was too small now for the little girl who owned it and who had worn it.

"Yes, it's too bad," the suit which was too small now for the boy who owned it and who had worn it, agreed.

"The whole trouble is," the dress said, "that we seem to be blamed for all of this."

"Now it is not our fault at all. Only we can not grow."

"The boys grow and the girls grow but the dresses and the suits all stay the same."

"You know sometimes I think, while it has its drawbacks that we can't grow, still it also has its good points. For example no one can say to one of us:

"Dear me, how you've grown."

"They can't pat us on the back and say:

"Well, dress, I hope you're a good little dress and never disobey."

"Nor can they say:

"Now, suit, I hope you'll grow up to be a fine man of whom we will all be proud."

"Have you any idea, suit, what you will be when you grow up?"

"No, they can't say such things to us."

"Yes," said the suit, "it has its good points—the fact that we cannot grow. It is nice to think no one will pat you on the back in a superior fashion."

"True, we can be patted on the back in a way, but it is the one who is wearing us who is really patted on the back and talked to in a superior fashion."

"They don't talk to us that way."

"They can't, and that's the truth. Yet there are drawbacks about not being able to grow."

"For example, others have to wear us when we're not new and they feel that we're not new."

"We're worn but we're not liked much and we're called 'Hand-me-Downs' and it's not a flattering term."

"Sometimes I've been quite sad to think that I must be worn by the next boy in size in the family simply because I still have some 'wear left in me.'"

"I am not regarded with affection as I go down from one to another."

"Nor am I," said the dress. "And yet I cannot blame those who do not care for me. I feel sorry for them and I understand that it is something which must be done but which is not very exciting."

"Then I am often laughed at. The one who has just owned me was not the first to own me. A sister older than she owned me first and now I'm to go to a very little sister."

"I shall be too big for her and she will feel ashamed in me. But they will make a tuck—a thing I must submit to—and they will say:

"It doesn't fit her but she will grow so fast it will in a very short time."

"But I've been laughed at lately as my owner put me on and I was way up on her."

"It wasn't my fault. She had grown. That was all. But they all laughed and said:

"Goodness, would you believe the child had grown so much. Why that dress looks a perfect sight on her."

"Oh, it is rather hard to be outgrown clothes—hard on the children particularly."

"But then I think to myself:

"Well, the grown-ups had to do the same thing when they were young, too, and when these children grow up they'll be doing the same with their children."

"So it makes it fair, I suppose."

"I suppose so," said the suit wearily.

"Oh yes," said the dress with a sigh which made a wrinkle upon its rather plain front.

Not Regarded With Affection.

"The boys grow and the girls grow but the dresses and the suits all stay the same."

"You know sometimes I think, while it has its drawbacks that we can't grow, still it also has its good points. For example no one can say to one of us:

"But then I think to myself:

"Well, the grown-ups had to do the same thing when they were young, too, and when these children grow up they'll be doing the same with their children."

"So it makes it fair, I suppose."

"I suppose so," said the suit wearily.

"Oh yes," said the dress with a sigh which made a wrinkle upon its rather plain front.

"It wasn't my fault. She had grown. That was all. But they all laughed and said:

"Goodness, would you believe the child had grown so much. Why that dress looks a perfect sight on her."

"Oh, it is rather hard to be outgrown clothes—hard on the children particularly."

"But then I think to myself:

"Well, the grown-ups had to do the same thing when they were young, too, and when these children grow up they'll be doing the same with their children."

"So it makes it fair, I suppose."

"I suppose so," said the suit wearily.

MORE WAYS WITH FRUIT

There are so many delicious drinks which one may make in the home, just from a few spoonfuls of canned fruit juice left over, often thrown out, not knowing their value. With a half-cupful of peach juice, add the juice of a lemon and sugar if needed, ice, and just enough water to thin it to the right taste, and you will have a glass or two of refreshing nectar.

Grape juice, with a little ginger ale added to it to give it zest, makes a most delightful drink.

Raspberry Whip.—Mash one cupful of raspberries, add a cupful of pulverized sugar, a pinch of salt and the white of an egg; beat all together until stiff. Serve on a platter surrounded with whipped cream.

Strawberry and Pineapple Jam.—Cut a pineapple through the meat grinder. Take equal parts of pineapple and strawberries. To every five cupfuls of fruit add four cupfuls of sugar. Let stand several hours. Put in a preserving kettle and cook gently until clear and thick. Pour into jelly glasses and cover with paraffin.

Ripa Currant Pie.—Take a pastry shell and fill with the following: Take one cupful each of crushed currants and sugar, two eggs, two tablespoonfuls of water and one of flour, and one tablespoonful of butter. Beat the yolks of the eggs, add flour and water and mix with the fruit and sugar; dot with bits of butter, and cook until smooth. Pour into the shell and top with a meringue prepared from the egg whites, using two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Brown in the oven and serve cold.

Salpicon of Fruit.—Shred a pineapple, add a banana or two cut fine, and orange and a grapefruit sliced; mix with one cupful of sugar and a tablespoonful of water which have been cooked to a sirup and cooled; add a tablespoonful of lemon juice and chill adding the fruit. Serve in tall glasses garnished with maraschino cherries.

Council Adopts Local Law No. 1

Necessary to Adopt This Law Under Provisions of New Home Rule Bill Which Provides That Aldermen May Become Legislators.

By adopting Local Law No. 1 under the provisions of the new state Home Rule Law, the common council in special session Monday evening donned the mantle of legislators with the power to enact local laws. At the regular monthly meeting on July 10, the new local law, which had been drafted by Corporation Counsel James Jenkins and introduced in the council session by Alderman Schlip, was read and laid over to the special meeting Monday evening.

The proposed new "Local Law No. 1" was again read Monday and on motion unanimously adopted. It reads as follows:

Local laws of the City of Kingston, N. Y.

Local Law No. 1

A Local Law

To provide for public hearings on local laws pursuant to section thirteen of the city home rule law.

Be it enacted by the Common Council of the City of Kingston as follows:

Section 1. Whenever a local law after its passage by the Common Council shall be presented to the Mayor for approval, he shall forthwith fix a day for a public hearing concerning such local law and cause public notice of the time and place of such hearing to be given. Such notice shall be given by publication for two successive days in the official newspapers. Such hearing shall be held not earlier than five days after the day of the last publication of such notice. Such notice shall contain the title of the local law and an explanatory statement concerning the same. The Mayor shall attend at the time and place appointed for such hearing and afford an opportunity for a public hearing concerning such local law. Such hearing may be adjourned from time to time but an adjournment shall not operate to extend the time of the Mayor to approve such local law or return it to the Common Council with his objections, pursuant to the City Home Rule Law.

Section 2. This local law shall take effect immediately.

Other matters taken up at the meeting will be found elsewhere.

Summer Flowers Add to This Stylish Headgear

Pale gray chip straw is trimmed with summer posies in soft colors to make this youthful little hat.

Gay Stockings in Light Colors for Kid Shoes

Now that kid shoes have become important among the novelties, new styles in stockings are shown in large and attractive variety. For sports wear the newest stockings are very gay in light shades, with stripes of contrasting color—only with the stripes running horizontally instead of vertically, as has been usual for a long time, and resembling sticks of candy. Some are woven lengthwise in two colors and some are ribbed in solid colors or shadow stripes. Sports hosiery is all of thin wool, silk stockings being incorrect with flannels and tweeds.

For dress occasions and for ordinary wear are shown new lovely styles in silk. Some have double clocks, others entre-deux of lace or openwork, and in quite the latest style are the stockings on which small figures and dots are embroidered in floss. White stockings ornamented with black polka dots, black with white, and many pretty color combinations are to be had. Gloves of silk and lisle to match stockings are the latest fad.

Latest Walking Sticks Long, Slender, Enameled

In every large department store is a little corner of the umbrella counter in which are displayed the newest things in walking sticks for women. Such is the faith of the importers that they are showing the late styles and colors in sticks at a long range of prices. This fad, which is affected by a limited number of fashionable women in Paris and London—usually the smart element of the professional world—has been handed over to us, and with us is now "going strong."

The new sticks are long and slender, in enameled wood, white, black and gayer shades, with heads of crystal, metal, enamel, glass. The very last gasp is a walking stick of pale rose enameled wood which has for top and handle the head of a bisque doll—a blond effect, just large enough to fill the palm as the hand closes over it, with marcelled locks and a dotted net veil.

Gives Tile Effect

No home-maker, no matter how modest her dwelling, small her income, need pine for a lovely tiled bathroom and light, clean-walled kitchen, since the glazed tile-effect wall paper so perfectly and so very inexpensively reproduces the best tile qualities of light, beauty and an easily cleanable surface.

Christian Name John Easily Most Popular

A compilation of the Christian names of army officers contained in the official Army Register for 1924 shows the relative frequency of occurrence of these names. The register gives the names of 13,731 officers—11,834 on the active list and 2,197 on the retired list. As the Christian name is not given in the case of sixty-four names the list shows the record for 13,687 officers.

The first five names—John, William, Charles, James and George—number nearly 26 per cent of the entire list, while the list shows that about one-half of the entire army is made up of officers with the first twenty names, says the Army and Navy Journal. Some 1,636 different names are given in the list, of which, in the case of 968, more than 80 per cent appear only once.

This compilation was made by Simon Newton of the United States engineer office, Detroit, Mich., to whom the Army and Navy Journal is indebted for his carefully prepared article, which shows the following as most frequent:

John 920, William 907, Charles 633, James 550, George 540, Robert 374, Thomas 308, Frank 284, Henry 275, Joseph 268, Edward 258, Harry 248, Walter 189, Arthur 181, Paul 150, Frederick 145, Harold 144, Richard 139, Francis 137, Albert 136, Samuel 121, Edwin 117, Ralph 104, Clarence 90, Herbert 87, Louis 86, David 85, Fred 80, Howard 78 each, Benjamin 73, Alfred 70, Alexander 68, Daniel 67, Ernest 71, Donald 68, Carl 65, Hugh 67 each, Eugene 60, Earl 65, Lawrence 57 each, Oscar 55, Earl 48, Theodore 43, Edmund 39, Clyde 37, Russell 38 each, Guy 37 each, Claude 37, Clifford 36 each, Kenneth 36 each, Leonard 34, Elmer 34, Horace 32 each, Allen 32 each, Harvey 32 each, Chester 31 each, Andrew 30 each, Norman 30 each, Peter 29 each, Stanley 29 each, Norman, Willis 28 each, Michael 27, Jacob 26, Bernard 26, Stephen, Wallace 25 each, Douglas, Franklin,

Women Who Are Heads of Large Enterprises

Man bequeaths his business to a girl secretary because "she is the only one who knows how to run it properly."

Business women are no rare things these days. The Philadelphia Inquirer observes. A conspicuous example of one is Mrs. Mountz who was a delegate to the 1924 Republican national convention.

Mrs. Mountz has successfully managed an extensive coal business.

For years the great steel mill at Conestoga was operated by a woman whose energy and enterprise equaled that of any man.

A young woman is a leading factor in one of Philadelphia's largest milk companies.

One of the largest orchardists in Montgomery county is a woman.

After William Weightman died his daughter, now Mrs. Penfield, carried on the business and was capable of managing big as well as small details.

What was for many years Philadelphia's largest drug store was long managed by a granddaughter of Christopher Marshall, its founder.

Women were in successful control here of a large hospital and a medical college.

A ROYAL PLAGIARIST.

Queen Marie of Roumania has published a book. Her plans to capture the Prince of Wales for her young daughter hanging fire, the Prince being slow to propose and possibly disposed to escape this last gentle noose like all the others. Queen Marie is said to have confessed that she was hard up and must have money. So she made haste to write a novel with a view to meet the need. But it is the misfortune of her publisher that she seems to have looked upon copyrights as cynically as some of the literary hacks who throw together picture dramas on order of movie producers, appropriating right and left any literary material found handy and adaptable for the purpose.

Queen Marie's "Voice of the Mountain" was promptly accepted, her name alone being counted on to sell it, and came out on time, but now we read: "Poor Mr. Duckworth, her publisher, has had to write to every newspaper and explain and apologize for five poems that appear in the book. He had not realized before publication that the five poems were Fiona Macleod's and that not only had they been reproduced without permission or acknowledgment but one of them had actually been altered by Queen Marie in order to adapt it to her story." Under the law of England royal personages can not be sued in the courts, but no such immunity is enjoyed by mere publishers, and the unfortunate Duckworth may have to claim a Queen's earnings in order to have means wherewith to defend himself. Surely he has the moral right to do so. Queen Marie would have found the Prince of Wales as a son-in-law a much better investment. If she could only capture him for her daughter and thus annex some part of his income. But, alas, he is none too susceptible, and keeps his eyes open, walking warily just beyond reach of every matrimonial lasso that is thrown.

DAVIS BUSY EXPLAINING.

While no one will attempt to detract from the reputation of John W. Davis as a lawyer, many will undoubtedly question his interest in public affairs when he must admit that he has not voted since 1916. To one of the reporters he explained that he sailed for England at about the time the 1918 campaign got under way and was there when the election of 1920 came around. Then, in 1922, he was registered at Locust Valley but was out of town on election day and did not get to the polls. This is all right so far as it goes, but it does not sound any too good when a candidate for president of the United States must make the admission.

In recent years it would seem as if every speech on public affairs included a plea that everybody go to the polls on election day and not let anything stop them from enjoying the proud privilege of casting their ballots. Various organizations have been formed to prevail upon the uninterested to take part in public matters, the first step being not to allow anything to deter them from going to the election booth on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. The paramount responsibility of every citizen is to vote. Much has been said and written on the right of franchise and of the penalty of shrinking this duty.

It is reasonably certain that no one will be too severe in criticizing the Democratic candidate for president because he has not voted in eight years, but it is just as certain that it will be remembered that he has failed to cast a ballot since 1916. No matter what the explanation is there will be many who will declare that the person sincerely interested in affairs of state and nation would have found it possible to vote more than once in eight years. There are many Democrats, forgetting any Republican criticism, who are ready to say that they wish their candidate had evidenced a bit more concern in national and state affairs than his record will support.

Mr. Davis will be asked many questions and it will be impossible for him to escape all of them. Some he can waive aside, but as to voting he will not find it quite so easy to laugh that away. Every man on the stump this fall will urge the people to go to the polls and vote, and Mr. Davis will be one of those who will be expected to make this request. It may be embarrassing then to have someone ask why he didn't vote more than once in eight years. When he gets on the stump, however, it is fair to presume that he will be kept busy explaining, which is an enervating task to any candidate from constable up to president.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.
(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

AN IMPORTANT POINT—THE APPETITE.

You have grown tired of everything in the way of food. You can't understand it, because you have worked out a system whereby you get just the right number of calories every day for your particular body, and for the amount of work you do.

You eat so much of the different kinds of food proteins (meats and eggs carbohydrates (bread and vegetables) and fats (milk and butter) with water and salts.

And yet as I said above you get to the point where your food doesn't interest you.

What's the matter?

Well, you've forgotten something that is absolutely essential to the enjoyment of food, and the proper digestion of it.

What is that?

Your appetite.

Where you get the same food every day, amid the same surroundings, and particularly if you are not doing any real manual labor outdoors, then the daily routine doesn't stir up your imagination—your brain.

And after all it is your imagination, the sight, the smell of food, the clean attractive dishes and table cloth, that stirs within your brain a keen desire for food which we call appetite.

I have spoken before about the painstaking work of the dietitians in our hospitals and have deplored the fact that in their efforts to secure the right number of calories, and the proper proportion of the different foods, and to prepare the meals in an economical manner, that they can have no time or thought for the study of the individual appetite.

And on appetite depends the flow of the juices.

You know how you enjoyed the fowl the first day of some special holiday season. The fowl came on the table for a couple of days after that first day. Perhaps you had a number of fowl and they had to be eaten up. Did you enjoy the last particle of the last fowl as much as the first day?

You know you didn't.

Why?

Because the brain did not stir up the appetite to stimulate the mouth and stomach juices to the same extent.

Why?

Because you saw the food so often that your imagination was not stimulated. You had less appetite and less juices.

So if you get a little tired of food—and your work doesn't begot an appetite, simply change your diet.

CHICKEN-EATING EEL.

People living along the Delaware river in the vicinity of Deposit lost many young chickens during the past spring but were unable to find what kind of animal was causing them to disappear. S. D. Peters of Deposit caught a four-pound eel one night recently and when he dressed it found two young chickens in its stomach. Deposit residents believe that Peters caught the chicken culprit.

Equally remarkable was another fish that came from the Delaware river in the vicinity of Port Jervis. Fred Campbell of that city was swimming in the Delaware off Goose Rock recently and while resting on the rock noticed a large pickerel chasing a little fish. Finally the pickerel jumped but miscalculated the distance and landed on the rock at Campbell's feet. It made a desperate effort to throw itself back in the water, but Campbell promptly hooked his finger in the fish's gill and took the fish home for supper. The pickerel tipped the scales at two and one-half pounds.

July 22, 1904—Residence of Mrs. William Purcell at Kerhonkson destroyed by fire.

Harry T. Owens and Miss Laura S. Van Zandt married.

July 22, 1914—Jacob E. Derrenbacher elected president of Rondout Savings Bank.

Home of Joseph Heckel on Manor avenue badly damaged by fire.

George Hagadorn of Croton purchased harness making business of George L. Snyder on Hasbrouck avenue.

Body of Baby Found.

The body of a day old baby was found floating in the Hudson river south of the Delaval Separator Company docks at Poughkeepsie on Sunday morning by James McPeck, a night watchman from the William Parrott Company of Newburgh, pile drivers. An investigation by Coroner John A. Card convinced the authorities that the case was one of murder.

Delegate Writes About Newburgh

Delegate to Democratic National Convention Visited Hill City to Secure Pointers for Western Home—Admired City, Not People.

A western delegate to the recent Democratic National Convention in New York city has furnished The Newburgh News with a copy of a letter which he wrote to his wife as a result of spending some time in Newburgh after the close of the convention.

His Note to The News.

In a letter to The Newburgh News, the western delegate says:

"I am enclosing a copy of letter sent to my home in the west. I am not signing my name; it would mean nothing to your readers. I simply wish to show you the impression of your city by a stranger with no axe to grind but travelling homeward, stopping in places to get ideas. I may be all wrong, but I was so favorably impressed with your location and natural resources for a city of distinction, refinement, and culture and was so disappointed that I take the liberty of writing you, hoping that your excellent editorials for improvement, may include the stopping of some of the things which must give the visitor a terrible impression of its citizens, where refinement should be at its best."

Letter Sent to His Home.

Following is the letter the convention visitor sent home:

My Dear Mary:

After the convention, I fled myself away to Newburgh on the Hudson, for a rest and with the view of getting pointers as a comparison of western and eastern small cities for our information in our society movement to improve our city.

I found a wonderful park, Downing Memorial; I know of no other so magnificently located for view, so wonderfully kept, it certainly must mean a high type of culture of citizens. I found another park in memory of Washington, a fine hospital, a public library, an excellent bus system replacing street cars, and a quiet, good will demeanor in public on streets of the people.

Bad Manners at Movies.

I was favorably impressed with all this. Then I began to look underneath. I went to the movies next to get an intimate view of the masses. Here I found atrocious manners. Loud voiced women discussed their private affairs, read aloud the titles, and in blatant, strident voices continuously discussed each phase of the photoplay.

Particularly when the overtures were being played, the commotion was disgustingly vulgar, showing that the mass have no love of music, or idea of behavior in public. It was much like I met in a Bowery dive picture house, the difference being an artistic organism and a refined appearing house. Our city may be lacking in beautiful parks, etc., but such ill bred behavior in our best theaters would not be tolerated.

Reference to Broadway.

Then I found one wide business street, that would be a credit to any city, with a few little business joints lining it, while on one side of the city on narrow alleys are its leading houses, with one exception strangely small, and not one modern business front.

Far from the great city of New York, we may be considered back numbers, but the number of long dressed, long haired women and whiskered men, lifeless, evidently with their funeral plots ready, and waiting to occupy them our town looked like a city of modernism.

Living on the Past?

Possibly these people are living on the past. It may be a mistake to have a past; to build monuments to the past, etc.; lest we continue to live in a cemetery and forget to live.

I am not certain that all small cities are as antiquated as this; that its people are as loud and vulgar in their public gatherings as here, but I am proud of the refined atmosphere of my home town after this.

Attended a Band Concert.

I went to a band concert in this wonderful park. Here also the program was accompanied by noise, laughter and sport. It is plainly evident that surroundings as beautiful as this city has, does not develop refinement in its inhabitants, or refined taste in music and the arts. It was plainly a disappointment as I anticipated meeting a wonderfully refined audience after this outward beauty, but found the worst behavior I ever met. I visited other movies, and children played in the aisles and loudly prattled, adults laughed at the most tender and dramatic scenes, children continuously clapped their hands and whistled at all kinds of scenes, just as I noted in the Bowery. Possibly the best citizens have retired from gatherings, leaving them to the others, instead of demanding the right to enjoy the music and drama without being disturbed as all first class houses in the west are managed. I will next stop in Poughkeepsie, where I hear I will find a different condition, and from there gradually return with many ideas.

ASPHYXIATION CAUSES DEATH IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

Pinned under his Ford coupe which overturned south of Hugheonville shortly before 3 o'clock Sunday morning, John Gillen, 24, of Wappingers Falls, died of asphyxiation before he could be extricated. It is thought that a car struck Gillen's machine and failed to stop, an assumption furthered by the finding of a Durant hub cap near Gillen's auto.

The Catskill-Shawangunk Mountain Association publication, "The Land of Rip Van Winkle," a travel map of the Catskills and the Shawangunks, is being circulated throughout the country for many miles around. There is a descriptive article of interest about the Catskill-Shawangunk region, which tells of the accessibility of this region for people of New York and other cities, while a large map shows the entire Catskill-Shawangunk region, indicating at a glance how it may be reached from any direction and by any means of travel, rail, steamboat or automobile.

MEMORIAL TO AMERICANS WHO LOST LIVES AT SEA.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., July 22.—Governor Alfred E. Smith today announced the appointment of Rear Admiral Louis M. Josephthal as chairman of the New York committee of the Navy and Marine Memorial.

The Navy and Marine Memorial is organized for the purpose of erecting a national monument in Washington commemorating the navy and marine service on the sea and dedicated to Americans lost at sea.

Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske is chairman of the executive committee, collecting funds for the memorial.

Congress has endorsed the project and has authorized a site in Washington where it is to be erected. Included among the prominent representatives of the naval and marine service who are lending their active support to the movement are Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur, the Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, Major General John A. Lejeune, Rear Admiral William S. Benson and others.

In accepting the chairmanship of the New York committee, Rear Admiral Josephthal, who has been appointed the commanding officer of the New York naval militia, said:

"At the present time there exists no national monument to the men of the sea. Too long have we delayed the erection of such a memorial which would show our appreciation for the heroism of the navy and marine service."

"Visible reminders of the achievements and lofty idealism of the soldier are present in all parts of the land. This is altogether fitting and as it should be, but the time has come when we should also show our appreciation of the sacrifice of the men who go down to the sea in ships."

"The Navy and Marine Memorial will be an everlasting reminder to the American people of the courage of those who have lost their lives at sea, of those who have faced the terrors of the sea, and will bear mute testimony of the grandeur and glory of the sea."

SEASONS ON MIGRATORY BIRDS CHANGED BY STATE.

The open season for hunting wild ducks (except wood ducks, for which a continuous close season is provided), wild geese and brant in that portion of the state of New York outside of Long Island now is from September 24 to January 7, inclusive. The secretary of agriculture recently adopted and the president approved an amendment to the Federal migratory-bird treaty-act regulations prescribing the above period as the open season, which conforms with the season fixed by an act passed at the last session of the state legislature.

In this open season the Federal regulations also include coot, gallinules, and Wilson snipe or jacksnipe, but as the state season provided on these birds is September 16 to December 31, a conflict is created, as a result of which these last-mentioned birds can be killed only from September 24 to December 31 without violating either Federal or state laws.

$40,000 Fire at Monticello.
Fire of unknown origin last Friday night destroyed the old Tannery building, now a pants factory, at Monticello, and an adjoining dwelling occupied by a Mrs. Heller. The estimated loss is $40,000, part of which is covered by insurance. George Williams, watchman of the plant, was rescued from the fire.

IT WAS A BEE, NOT WOMAN THAT CAUSED DISASTER

In practically the same way that the serpent and not Eve caused Adam to leave the Garden of Eden, it was a bee and not his wife that caused Robert Barton to lose control of his automobile while on the way to spend the week end in Sullivan county.

Barton and his wife and their fourteen months' old son, Robert, were on their way to Sullivan county when Mrs. Barton noticed a bee which she believed was about to alight on her husband's neck. She struck at the insect and missed it, but her aim was good in so far as it concerned the spot where she thought the bee intended to use as a landing place.

The unexpected blow caused Barton to lose control of the car, which turned over and was wrecked. The baby was bruised and was treated at a hospital, after which the Barton family proceeded on their way to spend a happy week end in Sullivan

Financial and Commercial

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, July 22.—Heavy realizing sales proved to be the chief handicap to higher prices in the stock market today. Profit taking was particularly apparent in the industrial stocks which have featured an almost uninterrupted advance over the last few weeks but did not extend to the rails. The carrier stocks seemed well able to hold all of their new gains, while the copper and later the oils staged a new forward movement of their own.

Copper metal was marked up another eighth today and quoted price for domestic shipments of the red metal was 13 1/2 cents a pound.
A brisk rally in some of the leading oil stocks under the leadership of the Pan-Americans, brought prices of oil shares to a higher level.
Pan-American B at 53 was at the highest point in the current movement and Atlantic Refining at 48 gained 4 points.

Cosden, Phillips, Texas Company,
California Petroleum and Maracabo
Oil were active at higher prices.
The steel stocks failed to follow through the sharp upward movement in prices at the previous close. Yesterday's buying was mainly for the account of the shorts, some of whom were trapped in United States Steel when the stock sold to within the nineties.

Cotton prices were higher, though the margin of gains was smaller than in yesterday's sensational session.
Strength in traction issues featured the listed bond market, though bonds of the copper companies were strong and active; foreign government issues were steady and Liberty bonds mixed.

CROSSING WRECK KILLS
2, INJURES 6 IN AUTO

Two sisters are dead, a third is in the Coughlin Emergency Hospital, and five other persons are painfully injured as the result of an accident at Monroe, when the Erie Railroad,
New York-Jamestown express crashed into an automobile Sunday at the Main street crossing, demolishing the machine. The driver escaped with a slight cut. Miss Louise Fitter of Brooklyn was instantly killed.
Her sister, Miss Carrie Fitter, died in the train on the way to the hospital, and Miss Matilda Fitter, the third sister, was taken from the wreck of the auto and placed on the train. She received a fractured rib and was suffering from shock. The auto, a sedan, was owned and driven by Adolph Potdevin of Brooklyn. The wreck was on the way from Cornwall to Chester.

CITY OFFICIALS

London Has Death Mystery

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, July 22.—Following the discovery today of the body of Sir William Herdman, noted British biologist in a room in the Monmouth Hotel, Scotland Yard men were searching for an unidentified woman who accompanied him to the hotel.
Sir William arrived in London yesterday to attend the wedding of his daughter, an event of considerable importance. He registered at one of the leading hotels and there was no explanation for his presence at the Monmouth which is another part of the city.

Despite the turn of events, it was said plans for the daughter's wedding would be carried out.

Egyptians Used Bells

Campanologists attribute the origin of bells to the Egyptians, who are credited with having used percussion instruments to announce the sacred feasts of Osiris. In China bells were known 3,000 years before the birth of Christ, says the Detroit News.

Two Arabs, who journeyed through China in the Ninth century, have handed down an interesting account of the great popular justice bells, then in use throughout the whole of that country.

In each town there was a bell of a large size fixed to the wall above the head of the prince or governor, and to it was attached a rope a mile or so in length and laid so temptingly along the main thoroughfare that the humblest sufferer from injustice seldom hesitated to tug at it without fear. As soon as the bell sounded the governor sent for the petitioner and "serious business, craving quick dispatch" met with instant and honest recognition.

Gardening Among Words

Will our British Academy ever be given the power vested in the Academie Francaise of admitting foreign words into the language?

The academy has now accepted
"athlete," "alpenstock" and "football"
as genuine "French" words, but, although we use a number of French words in ordinary talk and writing, there is no central authority which can decide on the absorption of these words into the language, says London Tit-Bits.

One of our games, court tennis, is full of French words, like grille, de-dans, tambour, and so forth. A word continually used by us is "coup," and there are many others. Why not separate the sheep from the goats officially?

Lost—the East Wind

An Irish maid came to her mistress and said: "Faith, ma'am, 'tis sorry I am, but I'll be troublin' ye for me wages. I'm Iavin' the day."

The mistress pressed her for a reason.

"'Tis scared of the master I am,
he's that quare in his head."

"Why, Mary, what on earth do you mean?"

"Well, ma'am, 'twas yesterday that I found him on his knees. He was perrin' here and perrin' there, and I says to him, 'Kin I blip ye, sor?' An' thin he says to me, he says: 'Yis, I'm lookin' for the Red Dragon an' the East Wind. Kin ye see thin anywhere?' An' so, ma'am, ye'll please be givin' me my wages, for I'm scared to stay."—Everybody's Magazine.

Allied Plan Must Satisfy Bankers

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, July 22.—The veto of the bankers of the world apparently rested today on the agreement reached yesterday by the Allied conference on the question of sanction and default under the Dawes plan,
the most important consideration before the conference.

Indications were that an effort would be made to meet the objections of the bankers, who, because they held the key to the restoration of Germany in the form of a $200-000,000 loan, must be satisfied before the Dawes plan can be put into operation.

Plans for a full session of the conference today were abandoned to give the reaction of the bankers time to crystallize on the report of committee number one—on sanctions and default.

As this reaction became intelli-ble, it was seen that the bankers, who plan to float most of the loan in America, did not consider the report of the committee gave them enough security and exposed them to another occupation of Germany
when and if the present one is lifted.

The announcement of the "Bankers' reaction followed a conference between Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer, Thomas W. Lamont, Morgan representative and Sir Montague Norman, governor of the Bank of England.

They did not consider that the protocol of the committee, as published yesterday, gave the lenders sufficient protection. Premier Herriot, according to reliable reports, asked Lamont to accept the agreement of the Allied diplomats and urged friendship with France as an imperious motive. Lamont, it was reported, replied that the loan was proposed for Germany, not for France.

The leaders were conferring today to find a way out. Representatives of the bankers met the financial experts of the conference.

Lamont made the following statement to International News Service:
"No final decision has been taken.
We are still negotiating. I would not care to make any comments as to the prospects of a final agreement."

The second committee on the fiscal unity of Germany wound up its report today with the tentative suggestion that August 15 be set as the date for the beginning of the evacuation of Germany.

WALKILL FIRE COMPANY INCORPORATED

A certificate of incorporation approved by Supreme Court Justice G.
D. B. Hasbrouck, has been granted by the secretary of state to the Walkill Hook and Ladder and Hose Company, Inc., of Walkill, town of Shawangunk. The purpose of the corporation is to act in the fire and water district of Walkill. The directors are George E. Halliday, Ross
J. Snider, Samuel C. Bowden,
Charles A. Ulrich and Harry Conklin.

LECTURES AT THE

Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock at the Dr. C. O. Sahler Sanitarium the Rev. Anita Trueman Pickett will hold her class in metaphysics. The subject will be "The Law of Success." Meditation will be held at 12 o'clock.

Tonight at 8 o'clock the Rev. Pickett will lecture on "Harnessing the Tides." Mr. and Mrs. Hans Weissman will play tonight. The public is cordially invited to attend.

PARADE MASTER IS FORMER KINGSTONIAN

Fred Ledgett, the parade master and equestrian director of the Sells-Floto shows, is a former resident of this city, having been born in the Roundout section. He is considered in circusdom the head of his line.

Mr. Ledgett headed the parade this morning. Mrs. Ledgett is also a topliner in the circus world, her ladder act being a wonderful one, and also is an elephant trainer of note.

Father Sent Baby To Final Sleep

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, July 22.—Charles Welford Travis, Brooklyn, N. Y., student, was found guilty of manslaughter today in Old Bailey court and will be sentenced tomorrow. He was charged with having killed his 10 months old son.

London, July 22.—Charles Welford Travis, American student of Brooklyn, N. Y., pleaded not guilty today when arraigned in Old Bailey charged with the murder of his ten months old son.

Travis will present a unique defense. It will be that the baby was troublesome and that he pinched its nose, expected to shut off the air and thereby cause exhaustion, sending the baby to sleep. The defense admits that when Travis discovered the baby was dead he put it into a sunt case and took it to Birmingham where he checked it under an assumed name.

Sir Henry Curtis Bennett, one of the biggest criminal lawyers in England, is appearing for the defense.
Many members of the American Bar Association, now in London, attended the hearing.

The prosecution charges Mrs.
Travis spent the day sightseeing in Wembley while her husband was disposing of the baby's body.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

The funeral of Miss Catherine M.
Garrison, daughter of the late Edwin and Catherine Garrison, who died in this city Monday, will be held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock from the home of her sister, Mrs.
Buddington, 165 Clifton avenue, and at St. Joseph's Church at 9:30 o'clock, with a requiem Mass for the repose of her soul. Interment in the family plot in St. Peter's Cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Rosanna Van Leuven, who died in this city Saturday last, was held this morning from the residence of her daughter, Mrs.
James Byrne, 26 Van Buren street, at 9 o'clock and from St. Joseph's Church at 9:30 o'clock, where a requiem Mass was offered for the repose of her soul by the Very Rev.
Dean Cushman. The services were largely attended, the church being filled with relatives and friends. The floral offerings were many and beautiful, testifying to the high esteem in which the deceased was held by her many friends and acquaintances.

At the conclusion of the Mass Marie Boicher rendered very beautifully,
"Jesus, Jesus Come to Me."
The bearers were John Jacob Charles,
William, Thomas and Robert Lee, all nephews of the deceased. The interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery, where the Rev. Thomas Larkin, pastor of St. Columba's Church, East
Kingston, gave the final absolution.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Heaney
Cummings, daughter of the late Hugh and Mary Heaney of this city, and wife of the late David Cummings, was held Monday from her home in Brooklyn and from the Church of Our Lady of Perpetual
Health, where a solemn requiem Mass was offered up for the repose of her soul. As Mrs. Cummings had a very large circle of friends the church was filled by those who came to pay their last respects, many of them including the relatives accompanied the body to this city, arriving here on the 2:15 train. The floral tributes were profuse and beautiful. The bearers were all nephews of the deceased: Joseph Heaney of Holoken, Joseph Heaney,
Joseph Fallon, John Fallon and Leo
Smith of this city, and Dewey Fallon of Pittsfield, Mass. The remains were taken from the West Shore train to St. Mary's Cemetery. The funeral cortege was very large. The committal service at the grave was in charge of the Rev. John F. Duffy, of St. Mary's Church, this city.

COMPLAINANT FAILS TO PRESS CHARGE

John Delarowse of Saugerties, charged with grand larceny, was picked up in Poughkeepsie and brought to Saugerties by Police Captain Richter, when a warrant was issued for his arrest on complaint of Eugene W. Thornton of Saugerties.

Thornton claimed he had sold a Chevrolet car to Delarowse on a time payment plan.

When arraigned in police court
Monday, before Justice of the Peace
H. D. Abeel, Delarowse said that he had remembered failing to make payment and he didn't expect it would make any trouble.

Judge Abeel adjourned the hearing until this morning and dismissed Delarowse when Thornton failed to appear.

Conscription in America

Conscription was not resorted to in the Revolutionary war. The first bill of this kind was introduced into an American congress by the conscription act of October 27, 1814, under the ausices of the then secretary of war, James Monroe. This was not carried out.

Held For Grand Jury.

Michael Wisniski of Cementon, who was charged with driving an automobile in Saugerties, Sunday, while intoxicated, was held to await the action of the grand jury, when his case was heard Monday afternoon before Justice Abeel in Sauger-ties. Photo Groom of Saugerties furnished the bail bond.

Ulster County Health Clinics

The Ulster county committee on the prevention of tuberculosis has practically completed arrangements for consultation clinics in the following places:

Saugerties, Firemen's Hall, July 29.
Ellenville, Hunt Memorial Hall, July 30.
Highland, Highland school, July 31.
Kingston, city hall, August 1.
Clinic hours will be from 1 to 4 p. m.

The state department of health has assured the committee that they will supply two examining physicians and X-ray equipment. These clinics are of inestimable value to the community and it is hoped that those who have symptoms referable to the chest will make application for special examination.

Death Ray Inventor Tours America.

H. G. MATTHEWS

H. Grindell Matthews, of London, inventor of the famous electric "death ray," has reached New York for an American tour, for rest. His experiments have cost him the sight of one eye, and he believes he will soon be totally blind.

Great Metropolis Has Had Many Nicknames

London is probably the leader in names, as in many other things. Some of its names had a vogue for a while, then, with the passing of time, dropped out of use. Such a nickname was the "City of Mists," which referred to the great argosies of commerce that came and went from its shores. With the advent of the steamship this name has gone the way of others before it. "The City of Smoke" and "The City of Fog" are nicknames for London that seem destined to survive for a while. In these names it disputes our own Pittsburgh. It also challenges Boston's claim to being the "Hub of the Universe"; and when O. Henry has made New York famous as "Bagdad of the Subway," British writers have dubbed London the "Modern Babylon."

Other writers have given it other names, but it remained for an Irish poet to give it the name it loves the best. This is "Eternal-London," which has been current since Thomas Moore wrote "Go where you will, Eternal London haunts you still." A Scottish poet gave it the name that it loves the least. This is "The City of Dreadful Nights," which had its origin in the name James Thompson gave to a poem on London night life.

British statesmen have dubbed it "The Metropolis of the Empire," while others have called it the "Imperial City." Lloyd George referred to it as the "Heart of the Empire." It has also been known as the "City of Palaces" and "The City of Poets."

Birds in East Indies Have Elaborate Homes

A few of our birds go to as much trouble building their nests as the birds of the East Indies. They build about as big as an ordinary mud nest, but they build a mound of earth fifteen yards round.

The birds work hard until this huge pile is reared, when the hen bird lays her large red eggs in the heap and the hen hatches them.

The hammer-headed stork of Africa builds what amounts to a three-roomed tenement, made of enormous sticks fixed between the branches of a tree. Any ordinary bird could creep into the low at compartment, says London Tit-Bits. From this a passage slopes up to another flat deck with bright pebbles and bleached bones. Above this is the nursery, the walls of which are lined with mud to keep out draughts.

A curious nest is the one of the swift-birds in Borneo, and which is known to commerce as the edible nest of the Chinese gourmet. The bird builds in caverns around the coast, and nest seekers go with torches and tear them down and export them. It is said that edible nests to the value of $300,000 are imported into China every year. The nest is woven from a secretion the bird produces—hence its food value.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS—In pursuance of an order of Hon. George F. Kaufman, Surrogate of Ulster County, notice is hereby given, according to law to all persons having claims against James E. Snyder, late of the town of Ulster, County of Ulster, deceased, intestate, to present the same with the vouchers in support thereof, to the undersigned C. Ferdinand Snyder, the administrator of the estate of said deceased, at his residence, Mt. Marion, N. Y., in the said town of Saugerties, Ulster Co., N. Y., on or before the first day of August, 1924. Dated, January, 1924. C. FERDINAND SNYDER, Administrator & etc. of James E. Snyder.

Boy Scout Camp In Readiness

Only a Few Touches Needed to Complete Camp Where Boys Will Spend Five Weeks Under Ideal Conditions.

All arrangements for the 1924 Boy Scout camp near Gardiner have been completed and only a few small details remain to be taken care of by Monday, July 28, which is the official opening day. The camp will continue for five weeks closing on Saturday night, August 31.

All Boy Scouts in Ulster county may attend the camp for any part or all of the five weeks and at the rate the registrations are pouring into Scout headquarters, there will be a record attendance over the entire period. Registration blanks have been mailed to every Scout in the county and should be returned at the earliest possible moment so that arrangements for receiving the various groups of boys and the planning of meals can be made in advance.

Camp Site Is Ideal.
Hewitt Island, located in the Wallkill river, is truly a fine camping site. The "Seconnet Outfit" as can be seen anywhere. The location, contour, surroundings and atmosphere are ideal in every respect. The island is high and dry and can only be reached by boats. It is perfectly level and affords a splendid athletic field, it being impossible for any of the boys to get out of sight of the camp director and his corps of assistants. Large trees completely border the island, giving an abundance of shade and offering every opportunity for bird study, woodcraft, etc. Swimming, boating and other water activities are absolutely safe and will be under the strict supervision of a water front officer at all times.

Will Welcome Visitors.
With the exception of special days, Sunday will be visitors' day. Parents, friends of the boys and the general public are not only cordially invited but strongly urged to visit the boys at camp on regular visiting days and in this way become more familiar with what Scouting really is and what it is doing for the American boy of today. The camp is not prepared to provide meals for visitors but will gladly do so when notified 24 hours in advance at a charge of $1.

Organizations Furnish Equipment.
All tents, cots, bed sacks, etc., which are of the army type, are brand new and a good supply of straw is on hand in order to make the boys thoroughly comfortable. This new equipment has been made possible through gifts from various clubs and organizations of Kingston who are behind the Boy Scout Movement, body and soul, and who realize that the boy of today is the man of tomorrow.

Training Along Sensible Lines.
Life at camp will be along the lines that any and every boy will be enthusiastic over and that long experience has proven best. A reasonable amount of likable work, plenty of good clean fun, instructions for advancement in scouting and entertainment of the highest order and kind but firm discipline. The boys will thrive and enjoy life in the great outdoors and receive a good boost along the highway that leads to manliness and true citizenship.

Examinations for Scouts.
Instructions and examinations will be given for promotion to First and Second Scout rank. First Class Scouts will be taught and given the opportunity to take examinations for the following merit badges: Athletics, bird study, camping, cooking, first aid, forestry, hiking, life savings, pathfinding, pioneering, personal and public health, signaling and swimming.

Boys Will Be Fed.
Camp meals are to be prepared by a regular chef. Special attention has been taken to plan a menu for this camp of well balanced and substantial food, and for this reason the camp officials ask the parents not to send cakes, etc., to their boys as most of the illness in camp is due to this mistaken kindness of the parents.

Those In Charge of Camp.
The Boy Scouts of this county are exceptionally fortunate in having as leaders, a camp director and staff who are thoroughly experienced and competent in every sense of the word. Scout Executive G. Henry Nesslage has spent the greater part of his life in summer camps for boys and for five years was director of the largest single boys' camp in the United States. Chief Nesslage will be ably assisted by Eagle Scout Al Johnson of Kingston, who has 31 scout merit badges and is an American Red Cross life saver, who will have charge of all water activities, scoutcraft, etc. Eagle Scout Herman Nesslage, who has 21 scout merit badges, will have charge of athletics, hikes, etc. Indian Chief Manabozho, a life long friend of scouting, will have charge of camp fires, tracking, etc. Assistant Director George Coons of Saugerties, N. Y., will have charge of camp meals, examinations, etc. In addition to these, there will be a number of interesting and capable men from all walks of life who will give the boys the benefit of their life's work and experience.

Church Services for All.
Church services will be held at camp each Sunday. Arrangements are made so that boys of the Catholic faith who are in camp may attend Mass at Gardiner.

How to Address Mail.
All mail for scouts at camp should be addressed to the Ulster County Boy Scout Camp, Gardiner, N. Y.
Watch papers for further notices and communicate with Scout Headquarters, 442 Broadway, for special information.
The general public as well as the parents of boys who are getting ready for the official Scout camp, will be interested in knowing the requirements of an official Boy Scout camp. In the first place, the camp site

MEN AND WOMEN IN NEWS OF THE DAY.

It is reported in New York financial circles that Edsel Ford, son of the automobile manufacturer, is to start one of the biggest banks in the world in New York City. Jacob Gould Schurman, American Minister to China, is returning to America in August, according to Pekin reports, to urge that the Pekin Legation be raised to the rank of an Embassy. Vincent Richards, youthful Youkers, N. Y., tennis star, won the Olympic tennis singles, defeating Henri Cochet, the French champion, three sets in five. For her work on the American Committee for Devastated France, Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, of New York, has been made an officer in the Legion of Honor by the French Government.

must be approved by the National Boy Scout headquarters, as to its location, healthiness, sanitary condition, equipment, and especially as to the fitness of its director and personnel. Every scoutmaster, instructor, scout leader, etc., attending camp, absolutely must be an expert swimmer. Also, the camp director and his assistants must be life savers who should be recognized as such by either the American Red Cross or the Boy Scout Merit Badge System.

It is indeed very interesting to know that during 1923, there were over 300,000 Boy Scouts attending official Boy Scout camps throughout the United States and that out of this vast number, only one accident occurred during the entire season. Should there be any doubt as to the

"BEFORE Dad got me a Porcelain Enamel Thatcher Combination Range, I dreaded breakfast time. Now I can cook breakfast in a jiffy on the gas section of my Thatcher and tend to the coal section later. Kitchen work is a joy, and I'm saving money by doing my own baking too. Really, if every housewife knew how good cooking and efficient the Thatcher Range is, she wouldn't have any other kind."

Among the many advantages of Thatcher Ranges are the "pull down" broiler rack, sanitary ash chute, dustless oven, automatic gas lighters, etc. Write for illustrated Range Catalog.

Give your hands a chance to keep soft and white

"In Place of Potatoes"

Give your hands a chance—it's peeling potatoes twice a day that keeps them red, rough and grimy. Serve Mueller's Egg Noodles as a change from potatoes—no dirt, no mess, nothing to soil or roughen your hands. No waste—100% tempting, delicious food—and cook in 9 minutes instead of the 35 or 40 it takes to peel and cook potatoes.

You can serve Mueller's Pure Egg Noodles in many simple, easy ways, just as you do potatoes—with butter, with sauces, with meat gravies or with sauerkraut. You will be surprised and delighted with the tempting, tasty result.

TODAY WE CELEBRATE

ANATOMY.

The first anatomist to attempt a systematic analysis of the human body was Marie Francois Xavier Bichat, who died in Paris 122 years ago today, at the age of thirty. Prior to Bichat's investigations there had been little systematic order in the study of anatomy and physiology, and dissections were chiefly made with a view to the practical arts of surgery alone. Bichat was a pioneer in attempting to reduce the complex structures of the body to their elementary tissues, and to ascertain the peculiar properties of each simple tissue. His "Anatomie Generale" and his "Anatomie Descriptive" formed a new era in the development of the science of anatomy, and while many of his generalizations were faulty, he supplied the incentive for others to carry on the work. Naturally of a weak constitution, his incessant labor wore upon him as an end while he was still little more than a boy.

FANNY CROSBY.

Fanny Crosby was born at South-east, N. Y., on March 4th, 1820, and when an infant of six weeks, was permanently blinded by the application of hot poultices to her eyes. When fifteen years of age she entered the N. Y. Institute for the Blind, where she displayed uncommon ability, being later employed there for a number of years as a teacher. In 1855 she became the bride of Alexander Van Alstyne, a blind teacher, who composed the music for many of her hymns, and who died in 1902. Her first literary efforts were poems and secular songs, and she was forty-five when she composed the first of her nearly 8,000 hymns, of which the best known, perhaps are "Safe in the Arms of Jesus", "Jesus Keep Me Near The Cross", and "Jesus, the Water of Life Will Give". Despite her infirmity she was a most prolific writer, and had 165 different names de plume because her publishers did not want her name to appear too often in their books.

She died nine years ago in Bridgeport, Conn., in her ninety-fifth year.

MACKENZIE ANNIVERSARY.

Alexander Mackenzie, the first white man to penetrate the Rockies and the Selkirk and pass through those mighty barriers to the Pacific, completed that long journey 131 years ago today, July 22, 1793. After reaching the goal of his ambitions after many perilous adventures, he inscribed this brief record in enduring stone.
"Alexander Mackenzie, from Canada by land 22 July, 1793."
The rock bearing this inscription is still to be seen at Dean Lulet. His name stands with the other mighty frontier makers, La Salle, Champlain, Fremont, Boone, and Lewis and Clark, men who risked everything to penetrate the vast terra incognita of the olden days and blaze the way for the countless homes that now dot the one-time wilderness.

SHANDAKEN.

Shandaken, July 21.—The Ladies' Aid will hold its annual church fair in the hall of the M. E. Church on Thursday and Friday, July 24 and 25.

The Rev. R. L. Mauterstock, who has been absent two weeks, occupied the pulpit of the M. E. Church on Sunday.

The Rev. W. H. Wakeham and family of Amityville, N. Y., are at their summer home in this place.

Mrs. Harry Deming and daughter Dorothy, of Stony Point, N. Y., are spending their vacation with Mrs. Deming's mother, Mrs. M. Crispell.

The Fulton Furniture Co. factory has resumed operation after a few days' vacation.

Dewitt Van Buren and family of Brooklyn, are spending their vacation with Mrs. Van Buren's father, Edward Riesel.

Mrs. Lena Elmendorf, superintendent of the M. K. Hospital, is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. F. S. Osterhout.

Mid-week service in the M. E. Church on Wednesday evening, at 7:30. Everybody invited.

Not Much Faith In Native Sons

Newburgh Newspaper Skeptical That New Yorkers Could be Induced to Exert Themselves for "Old Home Town" Sake.

Under the caption, "Enlist New York City as Our Ally," The Newburgh News says editorially:

This query is propounded by the Home County Magazine, monthly publication of Hudson river county societies in New York city: "Has not the time arrived when the business men of New York, many of whom had their origin in the river section, should give consideration to what can be accomplished, in conjunction with the real live business men in the cities and villages of the valley, to the end the territory between New York and Albany may become in industry and commerce something more than the slender part of a dumb-bell?" The publication suggests the holding of a conference by "men in New York who are native in the Hudson river counties with the active and earnest men of the valley," saying "it is likely new markets would be opened and profitable business would inevitably result to both groups in the conference."

We are skeptical whether any New Yorkers, for "old home town" sake, could be induced to exert themselves for their native region. We may read of such a thing in fiction, but it does not often happen in practical life that men who leave their home communities and make their mark in a big center of population go out of their way to help their old towns.

We do not understand it is necessary to beg favors for the Central-Hudson region. To our natural advantages there will eventually be added the business facilities which will force industrial and commercial development.

One of the most important needs is the dredging of Haverstraw bay, followed by the construction of river terminals and warehouses.

We are on the way to getting these things, but unfortunately we lack an aggressive and cohesive legislative bloc in Albany. We need assistance from New York city, not from "native sons" but from mercantile and commercial organizations and lawmakers, and we are satisfied we could get it, if we presented our appeal in the right way. The City of New York understands the importance of the Hudson river region and can be enlisted as our ally in the development program we propose.

The experience of Kingston and other places in Ulster county is contrary to the belief of The Newburgh News. Native sons of Ulster who have become prosperous and influential in New York city have taken considerable pride in helping local improvements and permanent betterments and in many instances have not been afraid to back their faith in their native region with their dollars.

OUR DAILY CATTERN.

A Dress With Slenderizing Lines.

4773. This model is very attractive for stout figures. The closing is at the side. The sleeve puff may be omitted. One could use crepe for this style in any of its pretty weaves, or linen. The new alpaca are also good for this dress.

The pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust measure. A 38 inch size requires 4 1/2 yards of 40 inch material. To make as illustrated requires 1 1/2 yard of figured material, and 2 1/2 yards of plain material 40 inches wide. The width of the skirt at the foot is 1 1/2 yard.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fell From Moving Auto, Broke Arm

Monday Dora Fischthal, aged six years, while on her way to High Falls from New York with her parents, fell out of an auto the door of which came open in some way. She struck the roadway, the accident happening between this city and High Falls. The child was brought to this city. The child was taken to the office of Dr. H. F. and taken to the office of Dr. H. F. and Van Wageningen who took an X-ray and found the child had broken an arm near the shoulder. The injury was bandaged and the girl treated for bruises on her face.

3 Killed When Tanker Rammed

ships in the vicinity rushed to the crippled vessel and aided in caring for the injured.

Number of Dead Uncertain. Although conflicting reports continued to filter in, the latest estimate of company officials issued shortly before noon placed the number of dead at three.

First reports had five passengers killed. Later this report was qualified by a dispatch saying "Reports of death are unreliable." Still later, Lieut. Page, ship's doctor on the U. S. S. Wright, said five were killed. Page was drafted from the Wright to attend some injured who were brought to Newport on the cutter.

Think All Were Saved.

"All of the passengers have been picked up," said J. A. Coates, vice-president of the steamship company.

He stated that a number of passengers had arrived at New Bedford on the City of Lowell.

Saved by Calm Sea.

The collision occurred in what is known in coastwise circles as "the grave yard." That there was not a terrific loss of life when the Boston was rammed and the tanker tore a gaping hole in her side, was due, mainly to the fact that the sea was calm, thus enabling vessels that docked to the scene, following the wireless call for assistance, to rescue the passengers and crew who fled the stricken vessel in life boats.

According to the latest reports the victims were crushed to death as they slept in their berths.

Most of the rescued passengers are on their way to New York on the Fall River steamer Priscilla. The purser of the Boston is on the Priscilla. He has the Boston's passenger list in his possession and until his arrival it will not be definitely known how many persons were on board the Boston. The number on board were variously estimated at between 600 and 1,000.

The Boston is being towed into Newport. Because of the big hole in her side she may have to be beached.

Early Day Oil Wells

Everybody thought Colonel Drake had gone "clean crazy" when one day, in 1859, he set forth to what later became known as the Oil Creek region in Pennsylvania on his absurd quest of oil, of which he knew nothing except that it was the basis of a liniment made by a New York firm of druggists.

With "Theocum Bill," a salt well borer, as assistant, he put down his first drill on the first of July; and the morning of August 30, having left the well the night before with the drill down nearly seventy feet and still no oil in sight, he found, to his delight, that the well was full of oil. Not long after Drake's sensational discovery, the "Funk" well was gushing forth at the rate of one thousand barrels a day, and Farmer Funk found himself a millionaire within a month. Soon the "Phillips" well on the Tarr farm was spouting at the rate of two thousand barrels daily, and gold was pouring into Jim Tarr's coffers at an amazing rate. And still more romantic was the experience of the famous "Coat Oil Johnny" and of Jim Sherman, who bought a lease of the Tarr farm for $500, struck oil almost immediately, and within a few years saw his $500 converted into millions.

Any Offers?

A Chinese newspaper contains this letter from an applicant for work: "Sir: I am Wang. . . I can drive a typewriter with good noise and my English is great. . . ## Service Station Robbed of $20

A Cadillac touring car pulled up at the gas station in front of the George J. Schryver service station on the Plank Road this noon and ordered gas. Shortly after the car disappeared in the direction of Phoenixia, the employees at the station discovered that over $20 was missing from the cash register.

There were four passengers in the car, two men and two women. It is thought by the employees that when they were filling the automobile tank with gasoline, the men entered the station and stole the money. The sheriff's office was notified and immediately got in touch with Phoenixia, but the car had passed through a short time before.

The Century Plant

The belief that the century plant blooms every 100 years is a myth, according to Pathfinder Magazine. The flowering of this interesting plant depends upon the climate and rapidity of growth. In warm climates such as Mexico and Central America, the original home of the century plants, they grow rapidly and usually bloom about the seventh of eighth year, seldom later than the twelfth. In colder climates the period before bloom is much longer. Some authorities say that in hot houses 80 to 100 years may elapse before the plant flowers, a fact which probably gave rise to the century myth from which the plant gets its popular name. After flowering the century plant dies down to the ground. However, new plants arise from lateral buds.

Flowers of the Desert

Arizona deserts have their own flowers. In places the supply is abundant, the growth large, the flowers when in bloom of marked beauty, the big yucca and the sotol, both members of the lily family, showing beautiful bloom on tall and stately stalks.

One of the interesting desert growths is the water cactus, so named because its great stalk, from five to ten feet high and as large in circumference as a barrel. It has a heavy pulpy covering from which it is possible to squeeze goodly amounts of water, and Indians and travelers are quick to turn to the cactus when water supplies are short, says the Detroit News.

Simply Couldn't

Dorothy, aged five, had been given a pretty blue-silk sash and the first day she wore it she was constantly running to her mother to have it tied. "Why, Dorothy," said her mother, "This makes the fifth time I've tied your sash this morning. You must learn to tie it yourself."

"But how can I, mamma," replied the little miss, "when I'm standing around in the front all the time?"

K. G. &amp; E. Nine Downed Fullers

The Kingston Gas &amp; Electric Co. team defeated the Fuller nine in an Industrial League game at the Athletic Field Monday evening, score 19 to 10. Although the Fullers out-hit the winners, the seven errors nullified their chances for a victory. Doyle was on the mound for the winners and Lindhurst for the losers.

McCarthy Proverbs for Ball Players

Joe McCarthy, manager of the Louisville team, has set down the following proverbs for his players:

Don't throw the ball before you catch it.
You'll never make a 300 hitter unless you take the bat off your shoulder.Outfielders who throw the ball back of a runner lock the barn after the horse is stolen.
Keep your head up and you may not have to hold it down.When you start to slide, slide.
He who changes his mind may change a good leg for a broken one.Don't alibi on the bad hops. Anybody can stop the good ones.
Look ahead, not backward, on the base paths. Remember what happened to Lot's wife.Don't throw the ball to the base after the runner is there.
A ball in the hand is safer than one in the air.Touch all the bases. That's what they are there for.
Don't find too many faults with the umpire. You can't expect him to be as perfect as you.

ST. LOUIS COLLEGE TURNS OUT MARVEL

Robertson of Browns Has Remarkable Record.

Gene Robertson, the twenty-three-year-old utility infielder of the Browns, stepped from the collegiate diamond to the major leagues when he was nineteen years old.

Gene had the remarkable record of stepping from the college field into a star role in his first major league game. The Browns were playing the New York Yanks three years ago. Herbert Thormahlen, then the sensation of the American league, was pitching. With the score tied in the eighth inning, Gerber, the regular shortstop for St. Louis, was injured and Robertson, the St. Louis university boy, was sent to take his place.

For 17 innings the teams battled with a 6-6 tie. Robertson, first up in the last half of the seventh, cut a sharp single to center. Ping Bodie fumbled the hit and the wide-awake collegian dashed for second, and made it in safety. He took third on an infield out and swept across the plate with the winning run a moment later when the Browns worked the "squeeze" play.

This showing convinced the Browns directors that Robertson was a live kid. They sent him out to the minors for three years to gain needed experience. When he finished up the 1921 season at shortstop for Joplin with a batting average of .347 the Browns decided that they could use him to plug the gaps in their pennant machine if injuries cost the services of older players.

Robertson throws from the right side, but, like Sisler and Williams, is a left-handed hitter. He drives a long ball and, considering his comparatively slight physique, gets tremendous power into his drives.

Colonials Lost Out in Tenth

Russell and Culloton Opposed Forsythe and Carlson in Close Struggle—Herbst Hit in Tenth Scored Winning Run.

The Tannersville baseball club turned back the Colonials of this city Monday afternoon at Tannersville by a 6-5 score in a ten inning battle. Kelly Herbst broke up the game for the Tannersville outfit in this inning when he sent a sharp single to right field and permitted Krunemaker to score from second.

Rube Forsythe, erstwhile Colonial pitcher, was on the mound for the Tannersville club at the start of the contest but was relieved by Carlson in the seventh inning when things began to get rather warm for him. Matty Deegan and Leo Dugan had the satisfaction of being the two gentlemen who made it a matter of immediate necessity for Rube to seek the showers. In this inning Dugan scored Robins from first with a three base blow while Matty sent Dugan over the plate with a single.

Clyde Russell did the hurrying for the Colonials for seven innings. He was taken out in the eighth inning when Jim Morgan was put in as a pinch hitter in his place. Culloton then finished the game for the Schrickmen.

The Colonials started the scoring in the second inning when three hits in a row pushed one across the rubber. Tannersville tied things up however in the same inning and then went into the lead in the third inning when hits by Len Dugan and Shannon and a sacrifice by Krunemaker gave them another tally. In the fifth inning the Mountaineers went still further into the lead when they put two runs across.

In the sixth inning Forsythe's walk of three Colonial batters in succession and then Schwab came through with his second hit of the day and scored Deegan. Tannersville got the run back however in their half of the sixth.

Then came the disastrous seventh for Rube when the New Patz hurler was asked to come off of the mound by the Tannersville management due largely to Dugan's three base clout and Deegan's single which gave the Colonials two runs. The Colonials tied the score up in the ninth when Deegan walked, McCue hit a two bagger, and Deegan scored on Raskin's sacrifice fly to deep center.

Tannersville scored the winning run in the tenth.

The same two clubs will meet again today at Poughkeepsie with the Tannersville players playing as the Poughkeepsie Red Sox.

Rebuke Courteous

Eddie Bremer, manager of the Majestic theater, likes to tell this one:

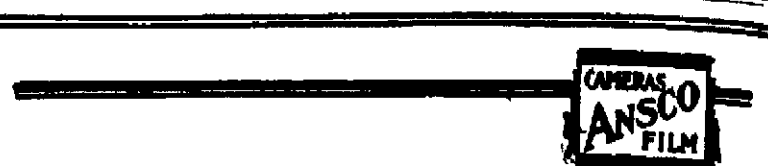

Some years ago, when Eddie was treasurer of the old Majestic, he was sitting in the back of the house watching the vaudeville. A tired business man, stopping one of the fair ushers, demanded in a hard-boiled tone: "Where is the men's smoking room?"

"Go right down the stairs," she replied sweetly, "and turn to your left. You will see a sign that reads 'Gentlemen.' Don't pay any attention to the sign. Go right in."—Houston Post.

X-Ray to Learn Dempsey's Injury

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Los Angeles, July 22.—An X-ray photograph was to be made today of the injured arm of Jack Dempsey, heavyweight king, to determine the full extent of the damage done to the fighter's elbow when it was dislocated in an automobile accident at San Juan Capistrano.

Dempsey was up and about today and said his injuries were mending rapidly.

They included several cuts, bruises and badly strained neck muscles. It will be several weeks, Dr. Wilson said, before Dempsey can use his injured arm for fighting purposes.

Others injured in the wreck, including Miss Florence Lee, Dempsey's leading woman, all were improved today.

ARGENTINIANS MADE A SPLENDID SHOWING.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, July 22.—While competition was keener than ever before in the Olympic boxing, wherein the United States boxers won the crown, the decisions were at times bewildering, almost disheartening. Our nearest rivals, England and Argentina suffered with us.

Argentina lost several verdicts after her men apparently had won all the way, yet they finished third in the official scoring.

The Argentinians were in such splendid physical and mental trim that as individuals they finished stronger than their rivals in practically every bout. Such condition and capable handling of the men at the ringside speaks volumes for the Argentine coach, manager and officials.

The United States and British boxers must beware lest Argentina, Chile or Uruguay capture the laurels in the next Olympic.

When we consider that boxing is in vogue only five years in these countries it is apparent that South Americans will be the real contenders in the future.
